

Smoking Ban - The Facts

Running Time: 13 minutes

A Smoking Ban will be implemented throughout the UK in 2007. The legislation will apply to all businesses and workplaces which include factories, vehicles, offices, restaurants and pubs. The law will state that you, your employees, your visitors and your customers will not be allowed to smoke in any enclosed areas on the premises.

In order to comply with the law you must display no-smoking signs and take steps to ensure that no one smokes on the premises

This DVD is split into two parts; one aimed at the employer, the other at the employee ensuring that everyone within an organisation fully understands how the law will affect them.

LEGISLATION:

The Smoking Ban will be implemented during 2007.

Wales – 2nd April 2007
Northern Ireland – 30th April 2007
England – 1st July 2007
Scotland – already implemented

Although the law isn't finalised at the moment the smoking ban will come into effect on the above dates. To find out more about the legislation in your country, please click on the relevant link below.
